Town Council Meets In Regular Session

The Town Council met Thursday night all present except Councillor Roberts. W. A. Anderson was present asking for a readjustment on his assessment. Because of Councillor Robert's absence no definite action was taken, but a further consideration of the matter was promised.

R. W. Tollestrup Manager of the Canadian Utilities was present with prices for colored lights on the streets. The Council considered the offer a very fair one and were sympathetic to it, but due to the financial position of the Town felt that it could not be proceeded with this year, but may be next.

J. D. Hall was present regarding his feed corral and the Town gave instructions for keeping the premises clean and sanitary, with the stipulation that if any complaints were filed declaring the yards a nuisance they would have to be moved out of town.

A number of communications were read regarding Mental Training School affairs, relief, and Tax Consolidation plans, but no action taken outside of answering the letters. A letter was read from the School Board asking for the remainder of their 1935 requisition.

This brought up the question of Tax Arrears, and a motion was passed that every possible means be taken to collect arrears, even if it meant attaching wages and property of those in arrears. The Solicitor was instructed to proceed at once with the legalities connected with this.

Prosecution will also be started against any person who permits neighbors to carry water from their taps, so all had better heed the warning and get in line. It was decided to purchase a large pipe for the Town Engineer as one had been offered the town at a very good price.

The reports of the Engineer, Constable and Librarian were read and accepted and the pay roll ordered paid. A motion was passed that we convey the sympathy of the town to those who are bereaved in the Coalhurst Mine Disaster.

The meeting adjourned at 12:10.

Again!! "NAUGHTY MAR-BETTA." The greatest show in years. At the Capitol Tuesday and Wednesday next.

Mrs. Geo. Terry is in the Lethbridge Hospital, following an operation, which has been rather serious, and she will be some time convalescing.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dahl were in Lethbridge Thursday to the U.F.A. Convention and Banquet. Paul reports a very good attendance and a great deal of enthusiasm.

J. H. Blackmore Given Leave Of Absence

At a recent school board meeting it was decided to grant J. H. Blackmore, M. P., an extended leave of absence from his position on the staff and at such time as he desires, he will be considered in seniority as a member of the staff.

No appointment has been made as yet to fill this vacancy but the Board has a number of applications from teachers with very good qualifications and an announcement regarding the new teacher may be expected very shortly.

Second Ward Genealogical Entertainment

An evening of rare entertainment has been arranged by the Second Ward Genealogical Committee and will be presented Saturday evening next week in the Second Ward Chapel. The curtain to rise at 8 p.m. sharp.

Mrs. Oliver McLean has charge of the evening which will include two dramatic sketches with musical numbers in between and conclude with a couple of hours of dancing.

Everyone is assured of a pleasant evening, and to those who do not dance the dramatic part will be well worth the money, and to those who prefer dancing, a twenty-five cent ticket is not high.

Tickets will be sold from house to house and the Committee are hopeful that the public will rally to the support of the sellers and give the evening the support it deserves.

Local stores report a very good Christmas business and the stocks of Gifts for young and old are very inviting and enticing.

Children will have two full weeks holiday this Christmas, will not return again until the Dismissed on the 20th, they 6th of January.

The Second Ward Mutual class received fair support in the Ticket Sale for "The Three Musketeers" at the Capitol Wednesday and Thursday. All who attended were high in their praise of the show.

It is very likely that Stores will remain closed Wednesday and Thursday, the 25th, and 26th of December. This has been the custom in Raymond for some years past. We think it is a very good one.

Folks! Won't you follow the example of some of your neighbors and come in and pay your subscription. The amount is not large, but when multiplied by a number of subscribers who are owing, it amounts to quite a bit. Your co-operation would be greatly appreciated.—The Recorder

SPECIAL RAILWAY FARE FOR CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR

Specially reduced fares for Xmas and New Year's between all stations, will be offered by the Canadian Pacific Railway according to information given by Mr. H. A. Christie, local Agent. Single fare and one quarter for the round trip for Xmas will apply from Dec. 23 to 25 with return limit Dec. 26, while for New Year's similar tickets will be sold Dec. 30 to Jan. 1, good returning until Jan. 2.

There will also be a special ticket based on single fare and one third to cover both holidays on sale from Dec. 20 to Jan. 1 and limited for return passage to Jan. 10, 1936.

These fares should prove attractive to travellers who are desirous of spending Xmas or New Year's with relatives or friends.

The worst disaster in mining in Alberta, occurred at Coalhurst at about 4:30 p.m., Monday afternoon just after the night shift had gone on duty when a gas explosion took the lives of 16 miners almost a mile from the shaft where they came down. One man escaped by crawling nearly a mile on his hands and knees, keeping close to the ground to escape the gas.

It was several hours before rescue crews were able to descend to commence the search, and then they found ten bodies together on one cave-in, and the other six at various points in the workings. Coalhurst has been in mourning since the tragedy and business of all kind has been at a standstill. Of the 16 miners killed by the blast, 12 were married men, so that many wives and children are going to have a very sad Christmas.

Funeral services are being held today, and a special train brought the bodies from Coalhurst to the Lethbridge Station and three services for the dead the stores of Lethbridge being closed for two hours during the funeral services.

A coroner's inquest was called and the bodies viewed, and the hearing adjourned until in the New Year when an official inquiry into the disaster will be conducted.

School Board To Entertain Teachers

Amongst the many other entertainments of the Christmas season, will be one which we believe is the first of its kind ever to be held in Raymond, when the members of the staff of both Public and High School will be guests of the School Board at a social to be held in the High School.

Feeling that better acquaintance and closer contact would result in more effective work and closer co-operation between Board and Teachers, this move is undertaken, and in our opinion, besides being a very enjoyable event will result in a great deal of benefit during the coming year's work.

Barnwell is holding a Ward Carnival tonight which we are informed will be somewhat after ours, as several Barnwell people were here inquiring into details of the Second Ward event and how it is operated.

LETHBRIDGE TURNS THUMBS DOWN ON SOCIAL CREDIT

Despite a vigorous campaign the voters of Lethbridge on Tuesday, showed very decisively that they are pretty well satisfied with their present aldermen when a straight C.G.A. ticket was returned to the Council, and a C.G.A. and a Labor member on the School Board.

Social Credit had a full slate of candidates in the race, but none were elected, and in most cases they polled a very small vote.

Mayor Elton was re-elected and W. H. Ripley and J. G. Hurchings were given the majority in the Council vote, and G. Patterson and George Wilson on the School Board.

A statutory meeting of the Council will be held January 3 when the Mayor for the coming year will be chosen.

THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE

(Christian Science Monitor)

It is not surprising that the United States suffers from mob violence. The surprising thing is that the American people, in view of the open defiance of the law by some of their officials and some of their best people, enjoy as much security as they do.

In Texas two Negro boys have just been lynched by a mob of 700, including several women. The country attorney is quoted as saying that he considers this action "an expression of the will of the people." The country judge is reported to feel that he cannot condemn "those citizens who meted justice" to the Negroes, on the ground that "they could not be adequately punished by law because of their ages." They were too young to be legally executed but not too young to be murdered.

If these official comments expressed an isolated view they would be shocking enough; they represent an opinion widely held and not infrequently expressed in the United States. The substance of this opinion is that we will obey the law only so long as it coincides with our desires and interests. When we can't get what we want, or can't get it quickly enough, by legal means, we'll take it anyhow.

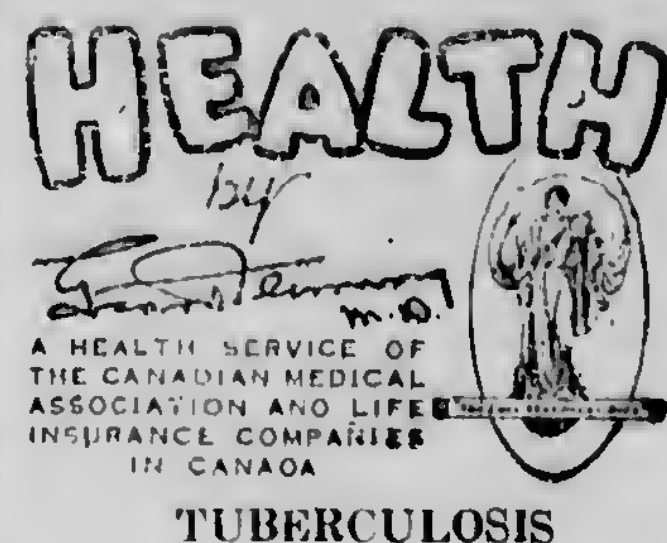

This view was expressed two years ago by the late James Rolph Jr., as Governor of California. After two white men charged with kidnapping and slaying San Jose men had been hanged by a mob. Referring to "those fine, patriotic San Jose citizens who now how to handle such a situation," the Governor proclaimed that "if anyone is arrested for the good job I'll pardon them all."

It was really the same state of mind that actuated the violators of the prohibition law. It is the same state of mind that leads dictators of whatever color to kill their enemies in order to hold power. It is the same state of mind that causes some employers to hire private armies or incite vigilantes to crush their workers. Indeed it is the same state of mind that brings wars.

It is a state of mind which, if not controlled will bring also an end of all orderly government.

Note:—In view of such conditions amongst our neighbors we wonder if Canadians fully appreciate the value and effect that the Criminal Code and the work of the R.C.M. Police has effected across our broad Dominion, and on the minds of the people resulting in an attitude of abiding the decisions of the courts in peace and quietude.

TUBERCULOSIS

"The decline of the tuberculosis death rate in this country to one third its 1900 level is not an accident. On the contrary, it is an outstanding example of man's capacity, in certain measures, to carve out his own terrestrial destiny."

In the above words, the director of the National tuberculosis Association of the United States introduced his discussion of what should now belong in the fight against tuberculosis.

There is some real danger lest there be a feeling that the fight is won, resulting in a falling off of energetic opposition and thus allowing the disease to regain some of the ground it has lost.

Despite the encouraging progress which has been made, tuberculosis is today one of the most serious disease problems which we are called upon to face. True we can meet it with confidence unknown to the previous generation, because we know that we can win if we make the necessary effort.

The public provide the money to equip and maintain clinics and sanatoria, public health nurses and others who work day after day seeking to overcome this disease. The same public have a perfect right to ask how their money is used and that results are being attained.

The remarkable thing about the success of the campaign against tuberculosis is that results have been secured despite the fact that no specific means has been discovered to prevent or cure the disease. We rely upon early diagnosis and treatment of the cases and the separation of the sick from the well, particularly children, so as to prevent the spread of the disease.

A common effort which has brought doctors, nurses social workers, employers and employees into this campaign has achieved results. It requires money it requires courage, persistence and determination. We can if we will make tuberculosis a comparatively rare disease.

One way in which everyone may play a part at this season of the year is to buy and use Xmas Seals. The money you spend on such seals is used to strengthen the forces which protect you and yours against a very real and powerful enemy. To buy seals makes you a participant in the campaign, lining you up with the forces of health and happiness against disease and misery.

THE REAL CHAMPIONS

Alberta having won another world's wheat championship thru the efforts of Freland Wilford of Stavely, it behoves this news paper to make comment thereon. In fact all up-to-date newspapers will be flapping their wings (figuratively speaking) and crowing over the event. And it's something to crow about, too!

However, the quality in Canadian wheat which the world looks for when it makes its purchases comes from the production of a quarter of a million common farmers who haven't much time to carefully pick out kernels and doll them up for a seed show. If the average farmer can not get quality into his grain from the variety seeded and from the soil and climate, then it is just too bad!

Varieties of grain are developed by men with long training in the business. Then trained growers produce the best quality.

CANADIANS AND THEIR INDUSTRIES—AND THEIR BANK

DAIRYING

HENRY: "Angus, do you ever think of the time we started this dairy business?"

ANGUS: "You bet I do, Henry. It all started with me driving that milk route at $20 a month and board. I worked early and hard for what I got, but the turn came when the boss was willing to sell out. The Bank of Montreal knew I was thrifty from the way my savings account had grown steadily. They helped a lot by lending me some money—on good security, of course; it gave me a good start. I still worked mighty hard, but the profits made me forget I was so tired. We have a nice balance at the Bank now."

HENRY: "Yes, and you took me in as a partner and gradually we worked up to a fine herd of our own and later a modern dairy outfit. And don't forget what our wives and children did, Angus."

ANGUS: "No, indeed! Even the girls joined calf clubs and borrowed money from the Bank to buy the first fine stock. They did their bit in building up our present prize-winning herd."

Not only are the largest dairy concerns in Canada customers of the Bank of Montreal, but hundreds of independent dairy farmers as well. Large and small, they keep their business deposits and savings at the Bank and borrow at times for seasonal requirements. Many of them call on the Bank for other services, such as credit information, market conditions. Many of them have their bonds and other valuable papers with the Bank for safekeeping.

EXPERIMENTAL STATION, LETHBRIDGE

CONTROL OF SOIL DRIFT-ING IN THE PRAIRIES

The removal of the snow cover by chinook winds in the Lethbridge district again reminds us that our most serious season for soil drifting is often in the winter time, and if this does not clearly bring to mind our past experience, the few fields that have already started to move should remind us that this is a danger period. The farmers of Southern Alberta have gone a long way toward controlling soil drifting, but that we have not one quite far enough is evidenced by the fact that some serious drifting has already occurred since the early November snow melted.

There is little use of reminding ourselves that fields that are drifting now have not been properly handled during the summer-fallowing period. We cannot go back over the past year and correct these mistakes, but there are a number of things that can be done to protect these fields from now until the crop starts to grow on them in the spring. There are a few fields on the Station where experimental practices have placed the soil in a condition where they are subject to winter drifting. These fields were carefully watched when the fall snow went off and as soon as a little of the top soil thawed out it pulverized as usual, and started to move with the first wind. The disc was immediately put on these fields and a single discing checked this drifting. Later the frost went out of the soil to a sufficient depth for the duck-foot cultivator to be used, and fields, where it was considered necessary, were immediately ridged by a deep cultivation stopped any further tendency to drift.

The present thaw has also made it possible to cultivate the sugar beet fields and potato fields on the Station that were covered up by the October snow before it was possible to make this fall cultivation.

The soil at the Experimental Station is a medium loam that is comparatively easy to hold, so ridging with the cultivator is quite effective. Farmers who have sandy soil would not find the use of the disc or the cultivator so effective for the checking of winter drift. The same may be true of those who have heavy clay soil. Those on heavy clay may find that deep listing will meet the situation, and this may help a sandy soil. This listing can be done effectively with three listing sheaves placed on a cultivator from which all the duck feet have been removed.

If the drifting condition is so serious that any of the cultural practices suggested above are not effective, about the only other method is to scatter straw on the field. This seems to be a very laborious and expensive method to the farmer who has not tried to check drifting with straw, but it does not require as much labour as one would suppose. It is often possible to stop a drift on 2 or 3 acres with a load of straw, especially if a start is made when there are just a few spots that are commencing to move. Some serious drifts have been stopped with from a ton to a ton and a half of straw to the acre. Scattering straw, as first suggested, may seem an impossible task, but in reality it costs but a few dollars to save a field. This is not a mere theoretical statement. Dozens of farmers in Alberta and in other parts of the prairies have been preventing their fields from drifting for years by covering them with straw.

A few years ago, drifting in winter was thought to be beyond our control, but today we know that it can be checked and the thing to do is to see that this is done.

VARIETY FOR YOUTH

Even if you could not see the firm outlines of its form you would know youth by its enthusiasms. However, there are periods when we all slump, find life full and our interest lagging.

Now, we cannot all take a sea trip to renew our minds and bodies, but we can introduce a little variety into our daily living to bring back our fervor.

Let us take two very different types of daily routine: that of office and home.

If you are a business woman, there will naturally be times when you will want to escape the humdrum of office routine. Let us make a little suggestion put variety into your lunch hour and you will be amazed at the new zest you will possess for the second half of your day's task. Take a light lunch, and then go on a window shopping tour. In the middle of a busy day I myself will put a piece of chocolate in my pocket and visit one or two of the antique shops as collecting is my favorite hobby. The new interest renews my mind, and I return refreshed and enthused once more to a tedious and detailed work.

If you are a wife and mother and your work continues from sun to sun, you must make an interval—even half an hour—and concentrate on something else. Every woman is interested in beauty building. Give yourself a little facial with your pasteurized cream which will cleanse, enliven and nourish it at the same time. If you will write me, I will give you directions for the hand movements in this little self treatment. Then, lie down for 10 minutes with your eyes closed. You will be amazed how different the world looks when you return to your tasks.
